MARTIAL LAW IN OKLAHOMA NEAR

Governor Walton Brooks No Opposition in War Against Floggings —Calls State Troops

Associated Press

OKALAHOMA CITY, Sept. 15.—The iron fist will descend upon who ever opposes Governor J. C. Walton in his war on floggings. Assuming all powers of a military dictator, the executive made it more plain today that martial law and state troops will be the answer to any opposition to his will. Members of the state legislature, if they attempt to convene in an extra session to consider the governor's act, will go to jail State newspapers that are raised against executive will be muzzled by censorship Counties considered by the governor as hostile to his course will be occupied by troops. This is the governor's plan of campaign and he promised today that it is no idle threat in well informed circles it was predicted that martial law will soon be declared in both Muskogee and Oklahoma counties.

BUILDINGS GO UP ON FESTIVAL LOT

Most of Booths Already Completed—28 Poultry Display Coops Already Reserved

Buildings are springing up, almost over night on the Harvest Festival lot Boot is on the eastern side of the lot are practically completed and an information booth and an orchestra stand have been erected on the front of the lot.

The merchants' display booths are eight feet square and about ten feet in heighth at the front, with a roof sloping to the back. They are constructed mainly of tar paper.

The information booth will be equipped with electric lights and a telephone and will be occupied day and night by persons capable of giving information regarding the Festival. The orchestra stand is covered and has a floor two or three fet from th ground.

Twenty-eight of the sixty poultry display coops at the rear of the lot have already been reserved by prospective exhibitors. There is little doubt that the remainder of the coops will be reserved before the opening of the Festival.

L. & N. OFFICIALS AT FALL FESTIVAL

Will Tell Farmers What Railroad Proposes to Do For This Section of Country

Four prominent Louisville and Nashville officials will be in Middlesboro next Friday, the second day of the Harvest Festival, to speak to the farmers who will be gathered here at that time, and show them what the L. & N. proposes to do for them. These officials are: E. A. de Funiak, general freight agent, of Louisville; W. C. Gilbert, division freight agent of Knoxville; J. J. Donohue, general claim attorney, of Louisville; and G. A. Park, general immigration and industrial agent of Louisville.

These men will speak immediately after dinner on Friday, on the Festival grounds, just outside the lot while the exhibits are being judged, if it is a good day; and in the Manring theatre if the weather is bad.

Jolly Hour Class to Open

The "Jolly Hour" pastime class for young children opens Monday at the Booneway Inn The class will be conducted by Miss Marian Arthur, old phone 211.

STRAW HATS MUST GIVE WAY TO FALL MODELS AFTER TODAY

Straw hats officially abdicate today in favor of the fall felt models. To day, September 15, is one which is universally recognized as the last day of the summer hat and the custom is generally observed here.

Straw and Panama hats have already been supplanted by the more seasonable felts in the windows of local men's furnishing stores and men have already begun to wear the latter styles.

There is no great change in the style of men's fall hats this season. Grey, brown and mixed colors prevail and they may be had in both plain and "fuzzy" styles. Most models are conservative, though styles with a dash of color may be had if desired.

WAGE WAR ON TRAFFIC VIOLATORS

Ten Arrested Last Night—One for Speeding, Others for No Tail Lights

War on traffic violators is being waged by police. Ten drivers were arrested last night by officers who kept a close watch on all cars that passed. With the exception of one case of speeding, all the offenses were failure to have tail lights as provided by city ordinance.

Fine o fthree dollars each was imposed on the following persons in police court for not having tail lights. W. Bowman, Dge Whitaker, Carl Miller, W. J. Jordan, J. W. Hozzlewig, Chas Price, L. C Marvs, L. Whitaker and Chill Lell. Charles Peck was given a simalr fine for speeding.

Investigation shows that an an astonishing number of drivers are violating the traffic laws, a condition that endangers the safety of both motorists and pedestrians The city court and the police department have determined to punish all such violations.

DISCUSS PLANS FOR SCHOOLS THIS MORNING

Elementary and High School Teachers Meet With Superintendent—Work on Same Lines as Last Year

SCHOOL OPENS MONDAY MORNING AT 8:30 A. M.

Plans for conducting the city schools during the coming year and organization work were discussed at the general meeting of elementary and high school teachers at the new high school building at 9:30 this morning. From conducted on the same general rules the discussion an dexchange of ideas it developed that the schools will be as heretofore.

A meeting for the high school teachers was held at the school building at 3 o'clock this afternoon at which time the high school work will be further discussed. Both meetings were well attended. Spt. J. W. Bradner presided.

Everything is in readiness for the opening of schools Monday, according to Supt. Bradner. An increase in enrollment is expected.

COOLIDGE PRAISES CONSTITUTION WEEK

Commends Annual Observance of Occasion by Kiwanis Club International

That the American people will be the more disposed to live in accordance with principles of the Constitution of the United States as they understand the advantages of that document better, was the statement made today by President Coolidge in a communication to The Kiwanis Club International, in commenting upon the activity of that organization in holding a nation-wide celebration of the signing of the Constitution, by over a thousand clubs, on September 17th, and during the week of September 16-22, which has come to be known as "Constitution Week." The President's message in full reads:

"The annual observance of September 17th as Constitution Day in honor of the fact that it is the anniversary of the signing of that great charter, is a custom altogether worthy of continuation and perpetuation. I am glad t know that the day will be so widely celebrated this year, for I am sure that, as the American people widely appreciate the blessings that their Constitution has insured to them, so they will be the more disposed to live in accordance with its precepts and purposes."

PUTS ON DARING BANDIT PROGRAM

Single-handed Highwayman Holds Up One Man, Kidnaps Another, Robs Cash Safe, Steals Auto

Associated Press

BOWLING GREEN, Sept. 15—A highwayman, single-handed, last night held u pand robbed Edgar Clemmons, department store employee, on the highway a mile north of here and five hours later came to town, entered a garage, robbed the cash register and stole an automobile, kidnapped the nightwatchman, Robert R. Rather, and took both him and the automobile to Nashville. He reached Nashville early this morning where Rather was permitted to leave the machine. Bowling Green police are searching for John Boggs, of Cincinnati, who is en route by automobile from Cincinnati to Nashville. Mrs. Bogges indicated that her husband abandoned her last night near the spot where Clemmons was robbed.

EXTRA CREW FOR EAST CUMBERLAND

Men to be Put to Work on Curbs and Gutters—Grading Now in Progress at Tenth

An extra crew for curb and gutter work is expected to be here early next week to begin work on East Cumberland avenue.

Grading work is now in progress near the intersection of Tenth street. As soon as this part of th work is sufficiently ahead, curbing, guttering and work on the base will begin. It is the intention of the contractors to concentrate their forces on the East End improvements so that they may be finished before the beginnig of cold weather. Unless the failure to receive materials promptly halts the work, it will continue without a hitch until completion.

Asphalt is being applied to two blocks of Gloucester avenue today, assuring the early completion of another important part of the street work.

SURVEY FOR PHONE LINE EXTENSIONS

Actual Work on Line to Norton and Binghamtown Not to Begin Till Next Year

W. F. Gardner, Cumberland Telephone company manager of Louisville, has been in Middlesboro recently and made surveys for telephone line extensions to Norton and Binghamtown Actual work on these lines is scheduled to begin during the early part of next year.

Work on the East End cable has been delayed for lack of men to do the work. A crew from Louisville is expected be here soon to begin this job.

On account of the immense amount of telephone work in progress throughout the country, the cable factories, though running 24 hours a day, are unable to supply enough matrials. All the Cumberland telephone jobs of this nature are nine months behind.

INTEREST PAYMENTS ON 3RD LIBERTY LOAN DUE TODAY

Interest payments on the Third Liberty Loan are due today. Though it is difficult to make even an approximate estimate as to the aggregate value of coupons which will be presented for payment at the local banks, it will be a rather tidy sum.

Local bank officials say that the people here are very prompt in presenting their coupons for interest as it becomes due. Practically all who have invested in these securities attend to this matter on the proper dates.

TROUBLE OVER BANK FAILURE

Armed Depositors Threaten Officials of Glasgow Bank Which Failed for $30,000

Associated Press

GLASGOW, Sept. 15.—Books of the First Bank of Fountain Run have been brought here to close up its affairs. The bank failed for approximately $30,000. The threatening attitude of depositors, many of whom came from the country armed, is said to have been th reason for bringing the books here.

DEMPSEY STILL HEAVY WEIGHT FISTIC CHAMP

Knocks Argentine Out in Second Round After Most Dramatic Battle in Whole History of Pugilism

FIRPO STILL UNDAUNTED T OTRY AGAIN FOR LAURELS

Associated Press

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 15.—Great Firpo is beaten by greater Dempsey. This is the way last night's fight in New York for the heavy weight championship of the world is epitomized here. Although gloom pervades all Argentine over the defeat of the country's idol, expressions of pride were heard on all sides for the magnificent battle he fought. "Next time," say Argentines, "he wil win."

Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Jack Dempsey and Luis Firpo fought last night for the heavy weight crown of the world as two cavemen in prehistoric days might have battled on edge of a cliff—and Firpo lost ,but lost like a man, fighting to the last agonizing gasps, more glorious in defeat than he had ever been in victory. Firpo was knocked out in three minutes and fifty-seven seconds of the most furious fighting ever recorded in ring history, in which he was floored seven times but managed to send the champion crashing clear through the ropes after battering him to his knees. The sturdy son of Argentine still gazes with determined eyes on the crown which Dempsey barely saved by a righ upper cut which stretched Firpo flat on his back for the count. The battle was most dramatic in the history of pugilism even eclipsing the terrific fray in Toledo in 1915 when Dempsey tore the laurels from the bloody head of Jess Willard.

Firpo who entered the arena while the last preliminary was in progress, was the first to enter the ring. He was followed a moment later by Dempsey. The challenger scowled heavily at his opponent but the champion apparently paid no attention to the South American. Firpo wore his famous checkered bathrobe of purple and yellow, his trunks were plain purple. Dempsey wore a white sweater buttoned over his shoulders. He wore his white trunks. As he seated himself in the corner he draped an army blanket over his legs.

The fight proceeded as follows:

Round one—Dempsey missed a left and Firpo dug a right into his body, sending him to his knees. Dempsey floored Firpo with a left hook to the chin, but he was up after a count of one When he got up Dempsey sent him to the floor a second time, but he did not take a count. Dempsey knocked him over for a third time. When he got up, Jack chased him back to the corner knocking him down again. After being floored for the fourth time Firpo knocked Dempsey through the ropes and Dempsey came back groggy. Firpo pounded Dempsey on the jaw with sledge hammer rights ,bringing blood from his mouth. Firpo was also bleeding when he went to his corner.

Round Two—Firpo swung a right to Dempsey's back. Dempsey hooked a left to the chin. Jack drove both fists to the body and Firpo fell to the floor. Dempsey wins by a knock out.

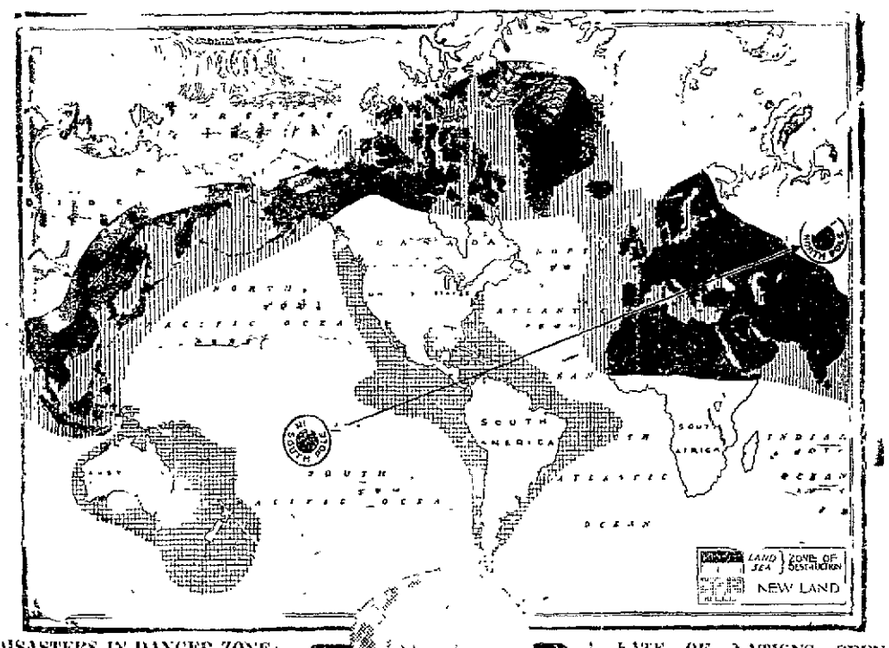
MRS. McCAMY'S MOTHER DIES BEFORE FAMILY GETS THERE

Mrs. E. A. Bandy of Copperhill, mother of Mrs. H. A McCamy of this city died at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, while the McCamys were hurrying to her bedside. News of her death reached the McCamys at Knoxville. Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at Copperhill. Miss Bessie Ewards and Harry Center, grandchildren of Mrs Bandy, will return to Middlesboro Sunday night. Mr. and Mrs. McCamy and family will stay in Copperhill until next week.

DELIVERY TRUCK AND PEDDLER CAR COLLIDE

A collision between a Lee Tailoring company delivery truck and a car driven by a Claiborne county produce peddler at the corner of Lothbury avenue and Nineteenth street this morning resulted in slight damages to both cars. The driver of the touring car, who did not give his name, assumed responsibility for the accident and will have the delivery truck repaired at his own expense.

CATACLYSM TO SHIFT EARTH'S AXIS; EUROPE ENGULFED, AMERICA SAVED



1913 DISASTERS IN DANGER ZONE

April 21: Earthquake in Kamchatka, Siberia; 21 killed.

May 10: Earthquake in Dalmatia; city of Sebenico wrecked.

May 5: Earthquake in Asia Minor; village of Sonia Sela destroyed

June 15: Earthquake in Persia; 6,000Persians killed.

June 18: Eruption of Mt. Etna; many Italian villages destroyed.

Sept. 9: Earthquake in Calcutta, India; 50 reported killed.

DR MILTON A NOBLES AND WORLD MAP SHOWING HIS EARTHQUAGE BELT. BLACK FOR LAND AND VERTICAL LINES FOR SEA; AND THE NEW LAND HE PREDICTS, SHOWN BY CROSS-SQUARE SHADING

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 15.—Is the Japanes earthquake a warning of cataclysms that will remould the earth?

Is the map of the world to be changed whole continents wiped out and new continents created in a Second Deluge?

Dr. Milton A. Nobles, geologist and student of earthquake and volcanic phenomenon, thinks so.

More than a year ago, in a New York newspaper, he predicted a series of disasters in a 'death belt" he traced through Italy, Dalmatia, Asia Minor, Persia, India, Japan and Siberia—the exact spots where most of the big earthquakes and volcanic eruptions of the year have occurred!

And now Dr. Nobles sees these events—within 10 years:

Ocean engulfing all Europe, half of Asia, part of Africa, and part of North America.

New lands rising to double the area of the western hemisphere in one great American continent and joining Australia and New Zealand in a continent three times their present size.

Shifting of the earth on its axis, with a new North Pole in Siberia east of the Ural Mountains and a new South Pole in the South Pacific ocean.

A new equator with the United States so close that the all-year mildness of Florida will be the whole nations temperature

New seacoast in Atlantic and Pacific, making New York, Boston, New Orleans, San Francisco and other ports inland cities.

Transformation of the Gulf of Mexico into an inland sea the size of Texas, and Central America and the West Indies amalgamated in the new American continent 5,000 miles wide.

"Science will laugh I suppose" says Dr. Nobles, "Science laughed in March, 1922, at my theories Yet earthquakes, volcanic eruptions and tidal waves have occurred the past year precisely in the zone I indicated. Compared to what I am convinced is coming, the Japanese disaster is a minor one"

Dr. Nobles makes this scientific forecast for the immediate future: Italy will probably suffer next—a terrific catastrophe within 30 days."

Ten years is the time he sets for a world reborn.

"Look at the map," he says. "In the zone of black the death belt—are located the world's active volcanoes. There is a connection between them, proved by the fact that when Mt. Etna erupts in Italy the lava sinks in Mt. Hecla's crater in Iceland.

"Continual readjustment of the earth's crust will open a chasm beneath the sea that will connect with the fires beneath the surface in this doomed belt

"This will cause the formation of steam, and the enormous pressure thus generated will literally blow up continents and submerge them.

As the water rushes into these holes, oceans will be lowered in their present beds, causing new land to emerge.

"This change is merely the plan of nature to maintain an ever fertile world. When lands through centuries of use become barren and overpopulated nature destroys them and brings into being lands re-vitalized and refertilized by centuries of submersion.

"This has happened before and is the basis for the story of the deluge. North and South America were once joined to Europe and Africa and the North Pole was a tropical region.

"Centuries ago a terrific explosion sank the land between America and Europe and turned the world on its axis. Now it is going to happen again!"

Dr. Nobles, who has spent 25 years in the study of volcanic and earthquake phenomena, is known in Philadelphia as the "hermit scientist." He lives in seclusion and spends his days poring over books and maps in a dark little office in Sansome street.

FATE OF NATIONS SEEN BY NOLLES

Dr. Milton A. Nobles, prophesying a re-made world, traces these belts of death and life:

Danger Zone: All of Europe, Greenland, Iceland, North Africa, Southern Alaska, Northern Canada, Asia Minor, all of the South and East Asia, Japan, Philippines, and East Indies.

Safety Zone: United States, the main part of Canada, all South America, Central America, Mexico, West Indies, Northern Alaska, Western Siberia, Western China, Australia, New Zealand, and Central and South Africa.

A THOUGHT

A thought ... g...nisor...

Let us eat and drink; for tomorrow we shall die.—Isa. 22:13.

Today is ours; what do we fear? Today is ours: we have it here! Let's treat it kindly, that it may Wish, at least, with us to stay.—Cowley.

SCHOOL WILL OPEN MONDAY

Middlesboro public school will open Monday, calling the boys and girls of this city from their play to nine months of work, training for the life that is ahead of them. This year Middlesboro is able to offer the best school training to her boys and girls ever available here, a factor to be appreciated by parents who realize the vital importance of early schooling in forming the character and life work of their children.

Five new school buildings will be open Monday to care for the children of the city who formerly obtained their instruction crowded into the one central school. Added equipment and improved faculty will amplify educational facilities. While, for the first time in years, all the pupils will have a full day of school and the cramped and unsatisfactry divided day will be done away with.

Good schools is one of the most valuable criterious in judging a town, if not the most valuable. Middlesboro has gone a long way in school improvement in the past two years and the results are something to be proud of. Now, when a desirable citizen, seeking to move to Middlesboro, inquires about our school system, we can unhesitatingly endorse ours as among the best in the state, a factor which will no doubt attract many here.

However, we must not lose ourselves in self-congratulation over our school system. We still have a duty to perform, that of actively endorsing the board of education and our remarkably capable superintendent, of keeping a lively interest in the work the children are doing in school and of encouraging every possible commendable thing undertaken by the faculty and condemning any unworthy thing that may enter into the schools, a duty which no real citizen will see fit to shirk.

HOW MANY IN 1923

Three hundrd motor cars were registered in the United States in 1895. In 1925, thirty years after the number will be in excess of 16,000,000.

This is not a prophecy, but a continuation of a table of registrations. In the ten years from 1913 to date, the table of motor car registration in hundred thousands reads as shows: 12, 17, 24, 35, 51, 61, 73, 91, 104, 123.

It is hardly prophecy to say that the next two years will show figures of 140 and 160 hundred thousand, or 140,000,000 and 16,000,000 cars registered.

It is inevitable that these cars have more and more good roads to run upon. If this number of wheeled vehicles suggest one hundred thousand miles of good roads, it is obvious that a greater number will compel more and more of the hard-surface highways.

Opposition to good roads comes from two sources: the ignorance of the tax payers, who think that the bond issue or the road tax represents outgo, instead of the means of increased income; and the politicians who desire "pork barrel" national legislation in order to get votes rather than money to be spent on roads.

Both classes of opposition are slowly but surely being steam rollered out of existence, with the automobile in the role of steam roller.

How many cars in 1935.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO MRS. MARY ALDEN PRESCOTT

My dear Jack's Mother:

I don't think you quite realize how you wrote me. Surely you must know you left me in the last letter but that I am too devoted to your son to do anything in all the world to make his mother unhappy.

I have been very ill and Jack has kept me from anything that would fret me, consequently I had never seen one of your letters or one of the letters for your friend, Miss Bradford, that we have received.

Of course, you know my mind was somewhat unsettled after the loss of my boy and nothing seemed to move me in any particular until they brought me the darlingest baby boy I have ever seen. Oh I know if you could see him you would love him. You would not think for a moment I was foolish, and besides, it always has seemed to me that taking a little baby who otherwise might not have any joy or comfort or content in its life and giving it some of these is the greatest good anyone can do.

I am very sorry you have not been well and hope you will understand after getting this letter that I have not been neglectful of you. But I have been so ill myself that everything which could possibly in any way disturb me, my mother and Jack have kept from me. We grow a little selfish over our own ills, do we not?

Now, my dear "Jack's mother," I am sending you today my check for the amount of money you said you needed. I cannot understand why Jack has not sent it to you before. I would hate to know for one moment you had a feeling that because Jack had married me he was neglectful of you. I want you to feel you have not lost your son but you have gained a daughter.

I hope you will forgive me, however, if I say to you that probably one of the reasons of this misunderstanding between Jack and you is that he has resented the interference of Miss Bradford. I did not see her letters but from what Jack said about them I know he thought she had been rather nasty."

Surely you know your son well enough to realize that he always is exasperated when anyone "butts in" as he says into a family affair. Even I would not presume to advise him as to his conduct toward you. Of course I understand that to you Miss Bradford is perhaps a dear and valued friend, but Jack probably felt she was almost a stranger to him as she was a stranger to me.

Please do not misunderstand me, dear "Jack's mother." I am only trying to unravel the tangle, one of the little tangles in that big tangle which we call life.

Most sincerely,
Leslie Prescott.

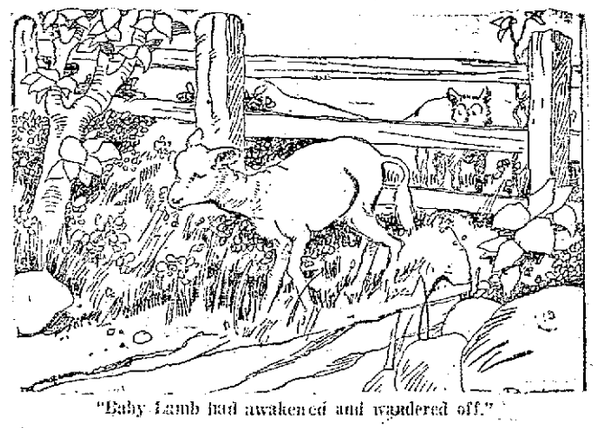
Adventures of The Twins

By Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 14—HOW BABY LAMB WAS SAVED



"Baby Lamb had awakened and wandered off."

Mister Gallop, the cowboy fairy, and Nancy and Nick were sitting down to supper in the red-rock cave, when suddenly they heard a noise.

The fairyman grabbed his lasso and jammed on his big hat. "Come on, kids," he shouted; "Something's wrong. Jump on your ponies and we'll beat it for Trouble Farm."

Not very elegant language, but then what's the difference, if it's kind!

Well, you may be sure the Twins lost no time. They were at the cave door almost as soon as their host.

But suddenly they stopped, all three of them. Who wouldn't, indeed, with Chatterbox Magpie sitting in a tree and laughing like a goose.

"Why I—is there anything wrong?" demanded Mister Gallop angrily, for he hated to be fooled.

"Oh, oh, oh!" screamed Chatterbox holding his silly sides. "Excuse me while I laugh, but really I think I'll bust. Burst, I mean! Oh, oh, ha, ha, ha! That was a good one!"

He wiped his eyes with his wing finally and pulled a straight face. "Sit down, sit down," he said weakly. "And I'll tell you all about it. Oh me, oh my! Oh, hum!

"It's about Sniffer Ky-oty," he went on finally. "He got fooled again. And I'll bet you he won't sit down to his dinner this week or next. And maybe not the week after."

"What happened?" demanded Mister Gallop. "Did somebody beat him?"

"Oh, no!" said Chatterbox. "Worse than that. It was this way.

"I went down to Mr. Ranch Man's meadow to look for bugs, and there were Mister Ram and Missez Sheep and Baby Lamb, all having a snooze. That is, Mister Ram and Missez Sheep were snoozing, but Baby Lamb had wakened up and wandered off, nibbling bits of juicy sweet grass with his funny white nose and looking kind of sweet and juicy himself to somebody who was watching 'tother side of the fence.

"First somebody was Mister Ky-oty, I saw him, but nobody else did, and he was licking his lips and grinning.

"All at once he made a jump thru the fence and grabbed at Baby Lamb before I could call out a warning. But I didn't need to. For suddenly something came at Sniffer Ky-oty like a cannon ball and butted him over the fence clear into the middle of next week. Oh, me! Oh, me! I nearly die when I think of it. It was Mister Ram—and he was as mad as a hornet."

Chatterbox had to stop and giggle again.

"Come on, children," said the fairyman, hanging up his hat. "We can finish our supper in peace. I hope Sniffer has learned a good lesson."

Berton Braley's Poem

RECOLLECTION

I will remember you
With lasting and vain regret,
I will remember you
And ever my heart will fret
For the sight of a face that is lost to view;
But I shall not forget!

I will remember you
Whatever the road you take,
Though you should go to the end of the world
For fame for fortune's sake,
There is a tie between us two
Which only yourself can break!

I will remember you
In spite of the years that flee,
My thoughts will follow you day by day,
Wherever you chance to be,
And when, in fields and in pastures new,
You have forgotten me.

I will remember you
As long as the rivers flow,
As long as spring shall bring the flowers
Or winter shall bring the snow,
Or till you pay me the fifty bucks
You borrowed a year ago.

What could be worse than a Greek-Italian war? Both of the languages sound like cussing.

Garden Tribute

The garden boasts a thousand queens
Who rule with undisputed sway,
While lovely winged caravans
Bring them the tribute of a day.

The merchant bees bring gold from far,
And tributary humming birds
Yield haughty homage to their grace.

The rain cloud spoils its pearls and wine,
The breathless wind bears perfumes rare,
The sun himself must own their sway
And send them diamonds to wear.

And when the minstrel thrushes sing
At dusk, like far-rung evening bells,
The great-sailed moths come drifting in
Like dim, dream-laden caravels.

The night himself their captain is.
And through the fragrant silence deep.
He comes to bring the thousand queens
The last and greatest gift—of sleep.

Cucumbers

Do you ever cook cucumbers? The expression, "cool as a cucumber" is as old as the hills and admits that cucumbers never were considered a real food, even long before food values and proteins were heard of. This vegetable produces no heat or energy and is used for its bulk alone.

Wilty cucumbers with hard seeds are very hard to digest and should not be tolerated. They can be freshened, have the seeds removed and be cooked.

Baked Cucumbers

Two medium-sized cucumbers, 2 tablespoons finely chopped chicken or veal (cooked), 1 tablespoon finely chopped cooked ham, 2 tablespoons bread crumbs, 1 egg, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, buttered crumbs, and brown sauce.

Pare cucumbers, taking as thin a paring as possible. Cut in halves lengthwise and take out the seeds. Mix meat, bread crumbs, salt and pepper with egg. Add a little milk if not moist enough to hold together. Fill cucumbers with mixture, pile it higher in the center. Cover with buttered crumbs and place in a baking dish. Pour in stock of water to half cover cucumbers and bake until tender. If water is used add 1 tablespoon butter. Add more stock of water as necessary. It will take about 45 minutes to bake the cucumbers. Serve with brown sauce.

Cucumbers With Eggs

Two good sized cucumbers, 3 cups white sauce, 3 hard-boiled eggs, 2 tablespoons grated cheese, as many strips of toast as there are pieces of cucumber, four rolls of rice, salt and pepper.

Pare cucumbers and cut them in three inch lengths. Remove seeds. Stand on end in a saucepan in a little hot water, cover closely and simmer 15 or 20 minutes until tender. The time required will depend on the age of the cucumbers. Rub the yolk of one egg through a sieve and put aside. Cut remaining eggs in dice. Add to one cup of white sauce. Add cheese when ready to fill cucumbers. Arrange cucumbers on toast and fill cavities with egg mixture. Cover top with riced egg yolk. Have the rice rolls fried an appetizing brown and arrange on a platter with the toast. Pour the remaining white sauce around the rice and toast and serve. This is a hearty dish suitable for luncheon.

Fried Cucumbers

Two or three rather small cucumbers, pepper, and salt, flour, deep fat for frying.

Pare cucumbers and cut in half inch slices. Wipe slices dry, roll in flour and drop in hot fat. Turn often until an even brown. Drain on brown paper, season with salt and pepper and serve very hot.

Plum Sweets

Our grandmothers never failed to have some plum conserve on their preserve shelves and this old-time sweet surely was delicious.

Nowadays most housekeepers have fresh fruits of almost all varities at their command during the entire year. But fresh fruits out of season are expensive and increase the food bill more or less needlessly. Fresh fruit certainly, but more for variety and change and apples for daily food with canned fruits and sweets for desserts.

And speaking of preserves, if one's family are not satisfied with a sweet of warm biscuits and preserves but insist on a regular dessert, why make quantities of extra sweet canned things? But if the family does like warm biscuits and preserves it saves many a dessert on a busy day.

Try this plum conserve with warm home-made rolls instead of pie.

Plum Conserve

Five pounds plums, 1-2 cup hot water, 1 cup seeded raisins, 1 cup nut meats, 3 pounds sugar.

Wash plums and remove stones. Put fruit, raisins, hot water and sugar in preserving kettle. Bring slowly to the boiling point and simmer until plums are clear. Add nuts and cook ten minutes longer. Pour into sterilized jars and seal.

Plums have a rare flavor not found in other fruits. Green gage, yellow plums, damson or other sweet variety are used.

Plum and Peach Conserve

Four pounds peaches, 4 pounds plums, 1 pound raisins, 4 pounds sugar, 1-2 cup peach kernels, 2 cups water.

Scald fruit and slip off skins. Remove stones and cook in the water until tender. Rub through a colander. Crack enough peach stones to make 1-2 cup kernels. Pour boiling water over kernels and let stand until the skins slip off. Put through food shopper with raisins. Put fruit pulp, sugar, raisins and "nuts" in preserving kettle and cook until thick. Pour into sterilized jars and seal.

Plum Sweetmeats

Damson plums, cinnamon, sugar.

Scald plums and slip off skins. Remove stones. Put in preserving kettle and heat very slowly, drawing out the juice. Simmer gently in their own juice until tender. Rub through a sieve. Add 3-4 cup sugar and 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon to each cup of fruit. Cook until thick and pour into sterilized glasses and seal.

Euchered Plums

Nine pounds blue plums, 6 pounds sugar, 2 quarts vinegar, 2 tablespoons cinnamon. Wash and dry plums. Boil vinegar, sugar and spice for five minutes and pour over plums. Let stand 24 hours and drain. Heat liquor to the boiling point and pour over fruit. Do this three more mornings. The last morning cook fruit and juice for 20 minutes. It takes five mornings to make this preserve.

K. U. OFFICIALS MEET IN DANVILLE, THURSDAY

A meeting of the Kentucky Utilities company officials, salement and district managers was held in Danville at the Elks club Thursday. About 200 representatives of the company, including vice-president, L. B. Herrington, of Louisville, were present.

The general desirability of K. U. stock as an investment and the Dix river hydro-electric power project were subjects discussed at the meeting. Mr. Herrington said that the site near Danville was a particularly good location for the power plant.

The meeting closd at 11 o'clock after for the dam and also the two bridges which the officials visited the site which will be necessary with the construction of the dam.

Among those present at the meeting were: W. C. Stair, Miss Nancy Howard, B. D. Wilson, W. B. Jones and D. C. Wester, of Middlesboro; R. M. Watt, Mrs. C. H. Dillion and J. H. Woodson of Pineville; L. K. Kays and and B. V. Bird of Harlan and Charles Phelps and Miss Ella Ownes of London.

BARNEY GOOGLE AND SPARK PLUG BIG HIT IN SCRANTON

The following appreciation of "Barney Google" is from the Scranton Republican:

The season opened at the Academy theater last night with the presentation of "Barney Google and Spark Plug" a musical novelty woven around the DeBeck cartoons that have had such a vogue of recent years.

During the summer many changes have been made in the Academy under the direction of Manager Harry Spiegel. A new entrance, paintings and new draperies and carpets and effective lighting transformed the interior of the theater and made it a most comfortable and inviting place in which to witness a theatrical performance.

The offerings last night was light and entertaining, with bright music, pretty girls and fine costuming. If the story of the comedy is rather thin that was to be expected. It was only intended as a vehicle in which to bring out musical numbers and that these were appreciated was proven by the numberous encores.

Johnny Morris heads the company in the role of "Barney Google" and he is ably assisted by Belle Belmont, Johnny Baker, Muriel Curtis and a number of others. The book was done by William K. Wells and the musical numbers by Frank Montgomery. Several of the songs are catchy and went big last night.

The comedy will be repeated this and tomorrow afternoon and nights.

WHAT LOOKS BEST IS STYLE, RULES FASHION IN MARTS OF GAY PAREE

PARIS, Sept. 15.—It was my honest intention when I came to Paris to digest what I could of the French openings and then be able to lay down a few simple fashion rules for the fall and winter.

But there are no simple rules. There are no rules. If there is any old style that predominates, I have been unable to get it.

These French dressmakers have their own ideas of what is beautiful, and they make up the styles they like best and are more successful with, regardless of each other.

How Different Cheri!

Jeanne Lanvin specializes in the picturesque frock. In her cozy salon with its many French prints and its soft gray velvet rugs, her beautiful manequins parade before you wearing close-fitting bodices and full bouffant skirts that reach to the floor, or nearly there.

Chanel, on the other hand, who is one of the most exclusive designers, makes, year after year, I am told, the little straight chemise frock, quite short and simple, which is as distinctively her model as is Lanvin's picture frock. And both are firm in their convictions.

Callot sisters, once seamstresses by the day who now have the most imposing looking shop in Paris, show intricate gowns with panniers and puffs, as well as long, slender sheath frocks. Some skirts are so long the ankle is concealed, others are so short that one almost gets a glimpse at the knee.

Jean Patou, who makes the chic serge dresses and the three-piece costumes so beloved by Americans, shows medium-length frocks held rather close to the figure, with lovely embroideries and simple draperies.

And so it goes. Anything that is becoming is stylish. That is the Parisienne's only rule, I'm told. She cannot understand the desire of the American woman to follow any particular mode. She finds the style that is becoming and may have all her gowns made from one model.

A Riot of Color

And the fashionable houses show the same models year after year; with changes only in materials or coloring.

Nor is there any law as to color. At Callot's I saw gowns that were a riot of purple, red and orange, worn with pumps of some contrasting shade. At Chanel's the frocks carry one tone throughout, for the most part, and are very subdued in coloring.

The colorful frocks, I am told, are shown largely for American or English women or for the stage. The typical Parisienne though is almost sure to appear in black or white.

Thus, first observations at the Paris shops lead me to believe there are no set styles, and we are all on our honor so far as clothes are concerned. But there are many French tricks in dressing that I will tell you of later, which I think we on the other side of the water might copy with profit.

THESE TWO COSTUMES SHOW DIFFERENCE IN LINE AND STYLE WHICH IS TYPICAL OF THE FRENCH HOUSES, NONE OF WHICH ADHERE TO ANY STANDARDIZED RULE IN PRODUCTION.

WOULD REMEDY TRANSPORTATION

Soft Coal Operators Point Out True Facts as Problem to Coal Commission

WASHINGTON Sept 17—What is termed an important remedy for transportation betterment in the soft coal industry has been laid before the United States Coal Commission by the Pittsburgh Operators Committee which is cooperating with the Commission to develop the true facts in the coal problem

To the Coal Commission there were pointed out the main factors limiting the capacity of the coal transporting railroads as follows

1 The number of suitable cars for coal carriage and their capacity

2 The percentage of coal carrying cars out of order

The number of suitable cars on the lines of railroads serving coal mines

4 The number of coal cars actually loaded for carriage of coal

5 The quantity of motive power for hauling coal

6 The percentage of locomotives awaiting repairs and therefore out of use

7 The railroad yard and terminal capacity

8 The division of the supply of coal cars among coal mines

9 Strikes of railroad workers

These factors few of which need explanation must be taken into consideration along with factors tending to increase the demand for coal transportation These factors pointed out to the Coal Commission are

1 The temperature or pronounced periods of extreme activity and depression

2 The seasonal fluctuations in the demand for coal for each class of consumers

3 Interruptions to the coal supply by strikes of the miners

The attention of the Coal Commission was called to the situation as it was the railroads were left two months or so at the end of each year with practically no cars and had practically pushed up all their equipment had increased to such an extent additions and extensions of all kinds of the proper repairs had been practically held for this period

The important remedy for the heavy transportation crisis that is said to confront the country this winter is the distribution of coal cars in proportion to the needs of the various districts and industries which will put the railroads in a position to handle the coal traffic promptly and to relieve the congestion at the mines especially in the Barley district where a large part of the crop

SUMMARY OF CROP CONDITIONS IN KENTUCKY

Temperatures much normal during the first five days were followed by much cooler weather at the end of the week Precipitation was light in the mountainous counties but was more general here in most other districts It totaled between 100 and 250 inches at the section from Jefferson County eastward to the lower Kentucky River and in the southern border counties

The rains interfered with cutting and housing tobacco seriously but some progress was made with this work during the first of the week the last two days Because of the rains suckers have grown rapidly and could not be removed Cutting has been delayed on account of the necessity for curing which is being done immediately ahead of the knife There are barns that have not been able to keep pace with the openness of the leaves especially in the Burley district where a large part of the crop although ripe remains green The warm damp weather has caused some weather in barns but the cool dry winds at the end of the week relieved this condition Some extension of top rot was reported from the Dark Belt but the discolorations do not hurt the quality slightly Late tobacco is not and corn continue poor in low quality land in the western counties and is generally excellent in the river bottoms of the south Burley tobacco is especially fine

Pastures have dried up and the extra high hills have taken a large amount of moisture from the ground The recent rains have been of considerable benefit to the soil and are generally good In some fields there are spots that have been drowned by excessive moisture and sweet potatoes also took well In good dry weather Upland pastures are still fairly good and young lots are generally fine although in many fields crop is and soybeans are good but rain has prevented cutting and curing

The soil is in good condition but fall plowing is proceeding very slowly because the tobacco crop claims the entire attention of the farmers at present Two weeks of clear warm weather would facilitate work and greatly benefit all crops

DO YOU WONDER?

Asks This Lady, "That I'm a Believer in Cardui?"—Had Been So Weak She Had to Go to Bed.

Osawatomie, Kans.—Mrs. E E. Keast, formerly of Illinois, residing here, says: "We moved to this state eleven years ago, and I had good health for a long while; and then some year or so ago I had a bad sick spell. . . .

"I got so weak I couldn't go I couldn't stand on my feet at all. I had to go to bed I suffered a great deal I was so nervous I felt I couldn't live I tried medicines, and everything, had the best of attention, yet I wasn't able to get up. I lay for three months, not able to do anything

"My husband is a bill poster and has circulars distributed One day there chanced to be a Ladies Birthday Almanac among his circulars I read it, and told some of the family to get me a bottle of Cardui. . . .

"I quit all other medicines and took it (Cardui) faithfully, and two weeks from the time I began to take Cardui I was out of bed—better than for months

"I kept it up and continued to improve until I was a well woman.

"Do you wonder that I am a believer in Cardui? I certainly am. And I am sure there is no better tonic made for women than Cardui." NC-151

MIDDLE WEST NOW PROSPERITY CENTER

Trend Shown by Investments Made in Treasury Savings Certificates in 12 Districts

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 15.—"The prosperity center in the United States as reflected by the investments made in Treasury Savings Certificates in the twelve Federal Reserve Districts, is in the Middle West," according to P. J. Wood, Director of the U. S. Government Savings Organization in the Fourth Federal Reserve District.

"Reports just received from Washington giving the total sales made for the seven months ending July 31, 1922, show that in the Fourth (Cleveland), Seventh (Chicago), Tenth (Kansas), and Eighth (St. Louis) Districts, $66,493,411 of savings has been invested in Treasury Savings Certificates, while in the other eight districts during this same period, the combined total is $47,431,145.

"The Fourth District, comprised of Ohio, Western Pennsylvania, and parts of Kentucky and West Virginia, has consistently maintained first place both in total sales and per capita sales for the year to date, there having been invested during this period of a total of $23,422,711 or $2.33 per capita. The foregoing total exceeds the combined sales in the First (Boston), Second (New York), Third (Philadelphia) and Fifth (Richmond) Districts during the some period.

"Treasury savings organizations in the twelve Federal Reserve Districts are playing an important part in the financial program of the Government. They have been permanently established to conserve the gains made by the educational influences set at work in the sale of War Savings Stamps during the war loan campaigns."

VILLA'S LARGE DOMAINS NOW WITHOUT A LEADER

Associated Press

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 15.—When Francisco Villa fell at Parral under a hail of bullets a small kingdom in the state of Durrango lost its ruler, and nearly 6,000 potential soldiers their chief.

The fact that the former bandit leader exercised virtually feudal rights over an extent of mountains and plains as large as the state of Tlaxcal, with a population of nearly 100,000, came to light when a commission representing the "colonists" he had settled around about Canutillo journeyed to the capital to ask President Obregon what the policy of the government would be in regard to the Villa holdings. They were told that it would not be altered, and those of the former outlaw's followers who had devoted themselves to agriculture would not be molested.

When Villa first submitted himself to provisional President Adolfo de la Huerta in 1920 and received, for himself and his 50 followers, the hacienda of Canutillo, the government thought the Villa problem had been solved. But when the pacified rebels friends learned of the good luck of those who surrendered with him, hundreds of them addressed petitions to their former leader asking for lands in the district which he dominated. Villa complied, as did the government, and more ranches were bought and turned over to them for the formation of military-agricultural colonies.

2,000 NEGROES LEAVE TOWN

Johnstown Mayor Orders All Who Have Not Lived There Seven Years to Clear Out

By Associated Press.

JOHNESTOWN, Sept. 15.—More than two thousand negroes have left Johnstown within week on orders of Mayor Joseph Canffield who today outlined reasons for the notice that only negroes who had lived here for seven years would be allowed to remain. The mayor declared Johnstown had "been sitting on a bomb" and that it was "almost exploded when two of our policemen were killed and four others so badly wounded one of them has since died. This was done by a negro while I was out of the city" the mayor said, "and when I came home I found the city in a ferment and decided the only thing to do was to send these new negroes out of town.

Spinal Curvature in Children

In thousands of homes little attention is given by parents to the correct carriage and posture of their children.

Your children need careful supervision from infancy and childhood, youth and the days of growth and development.

Teach them the health game of "straight back." Do not allow a careless, slouching position at meal time. During the "loafing" period after meals, see that a sitting or reclining posture is one that does not interfere with the health game of spinal control.

If your children are growing rapidly and seem to lack muscular control of the back and erect carriage from the hips, watch them for the prevention of slump and slouch or bowed-out back.

Proper seating, both in the home and at the school, play a most important part in preventing spinal curvature. Proper muscular control is quite necessary to affect the well-balanced carriage and position of erectness, which insure a straight back, and health.

Walk, stand and sit erect, with your head up. Draw in the abdominal muscles in walking and deep breathing. Fill your lungs when you breathe, throw back the shoulders. Do these things every day and spinal carvature will not come your way.

HELPED TO LINK TWO NATIONS

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Sept. 15.—A. J. Breitenstein, Montana hotel man, was the American who gave the first impetus to construction of the "Sunshine Trail," connecting Canada and the United States at Sweet Grass-Coutts, where the road crosses the border.

Breitenstein was talking one day with Art Baalim, Canadian oil and auto man, of plans for bringing the two countries closer to gether, and out of this conversation the "Sunshine Trail" developed.

Baalim was first president of the road, known officially as the Alberta-Montana Highway. Breitenstein is present president.

Originally the road was from Great Falls, Mont., to Lethbridge, Alberta. Later it was extended to Burte and Edmonton. Sweet Grass is in Montana; Coutts in Alberta. It really is one town. There's talk of an extension later to Alaska and Mexico. Already it intersects all east-and-west bound tourist traffic through Montana and Alberta.

It's been refered to sometimes as the "moonshine trail" as well as the sunshine one.

ON EIN HOSPITAL, TWO IN JAIL AFTER HIGHSPLINT FIGHT

HARLAN, Ky., Sept. 15.—Jack Hall is in a local hospital here suffering with a wound in the head and shoulders with a shot gun, and his wife and her brother, C. C. Cole are in jail, as the result of an altercation at Highsplint. Hal married Cole's sister and he and his wife were said to have ben in a fight. Mrs. Hall screamed for help and Cole came to her wit ha shotgun and opened fire as soon as he saw Hall, the shot taking effect in the shoulder and head.

oCle had accidentally discharged a pistol earlier in the day and shot himself through the foot.

K. U. TO CUT INTO WATER MAIN ON EAST SIDE SUNDAY

The K. U. company will cut into the water main with their new cast iron main between Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets on East Cumberland avenue tomorrow. This will necessitate cutting off the water entirely from the East End section all day.

The old main is being replaced with the new six-inch cast iron water pipes from Seventh street to Tuth street, including the crossings. The ditch is practically completed now and the mains will be laid before the paving materials are placed on the street.

MENAGERIE NOTED FEATURE JOHN ROBINSON'S CIRCUS

Menageries, complete in every detail and containing a specimen of every living land or water animal, making a zoological display second to none in the universe are offered this year by the John Robinson's Circus and trained wild animals, which comes to Middlesboro on Wednesday, Sept. 19 In the menagerie department are to be found the most perfect as well as the rarest specimens of animal life on earth, each of the species carefully classified.

One of the extra features of the menagerie is the kindergarten of baby elephants, camels, lions, tigers and pumas, which will be especially interesting to children and students. Old Dr. Stork worked overtime last winter at the quarters of the John Robinson Circus in Peru, Ind., and no other show has ever carried so many baby animals.

In the mammoth main tent the display will include thrilling and nerve shattering aerialists; superbly astonishing equestrians, death courting acrobats; breath taking wire walkers, clever jugglers and perch workers, educated horses, ponies, monkeys, and dogs, and the greatest offering of wild animal numbers ever presented under a canvass dome.

Two performances are scheduled for this city, the afternoon show starting at 2 p. m., and the night exhibition at 8 p. m. with the doors to the zoo and menagerie opening an hour earlier. The free street pageant of more than a mile in length will leave the circus grounds at exactly 11 a. m. For the convenience of women and children a downtown ticket office will be established on Circus Day at Lee's Drug store, where tickets can be purchased at exactly the same price as on the grounds.

LESSON FOR SEPTEMBER 16

LUKE, THE BELOVED PHYSICIAN

LESSON TEXT—Luke 1:1-4; Acts 1:1; Acts 16:9-15; Col. 4:14; II Tim. 4:11.

GOLDEN TEXT—"A friend loveth at all times and a brother is born for adversity."—Prov. 17:17.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Luke's Story of the Great Physician.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Luke, Paul's Friend.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Luke Helped Paul.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Luke's Contribution to Christianity.

I. Luke the Historian (Luke 1:1-3; cf. Acts 1:1).

Luke was a writer of great distinction. His style is clear and picturesque. The pieces of writing left us are the Gospel of Luke and the Acts. According to Acts 1:1, the gospel was written to set down in order the things which Jesus began to do and to teach, and Acts 1:3 to show what the risen and ascended Lord was continuing to do and to teach. While here on earth He only began to do and to show certain things, but from His place of glorious exaltation, He is continuing His mighty work by the Holy Spirit through the disciples Concerning the contents of the gospel, he asserts first, that the source of his information was recorded statements of eye witnesses. He assures us that these statements have been verified by him. Second, that he had made a systematic statement of these facts in order to strengthen the faith of his friend, Theophilus.

II. Luke the Beloved Physician (Col. 4:14).

He evidently was a skilled physician as his descriptions of the diseases which Jesus cured shows. His description of the symptoms of the diseases shows his capability. It was left to the physician to portray with vivid exactness the virgin birth by means of which the Eternal Son became Incarnate. He was not only skillful but tenderly sympathetic. This sympathy is shown in his portrayal of the Great Physician in His compassion for the poor, helpless and suffering people. What untold good a skillful and sympathetic Christian physician can do! No one gets so closely into touch with human life as a doctor.

III. Luke the Companion of Paul (Acts 16:9-15).

1. Paul's Need of a Physician. There is clear evidence that Paul had some physical ailment which made the service of a skillful physician most desirable. When the call came to go to Europe with the gospel, Luke joined Paul and became one of his most helpful companions. This is one example of what a faithful Christian physician can do.

2. Luke's Fidelity. "Only Luke is with me." He was no mere far-away friend. He stood by Paul in storm and calm. Paul was now in the cold jail awaiting execution. What a great comfort it must have been to know that this faithful physician was with him. He was with him at Philippi, Miletus, Jerusalem, Caesarea, before Felix and Festus, on the voyage to Rome, with him in the Roman jail, through the Roman trial, and perhaps a spectator of his execution. It cost Luke a great deal to do this, but he no doubt considered it a labor of love, even feeling the call of God as really as Paul. Nothing is known of Luke after Paul's death. Tradition has some interesting things to say, but no word of certainty.

Courage.

Fear God, and take your own part. There's Bible in that, young man; see how Moses feared God, and how he took his own part against everybody who meddled with him. And see how David feared God, and took his own part. . . . So fear God, young man, and never give in! The world can bully, and is fond, provided it sees a man in a kind of difficulty, of getting about him, calling him coarse names, and even going so far as to hustle him; but the world, like all bullies, carries a white feather in its tail, and no sooner sees the man taking off his coat, and offering to fight its best, than it scatters here and there, and is always civil to him afterwards.—Borrow.

When a Man Gets Angry.

The man of patience and of righteous purpose accomplishes something worth while when he gets angry. Every ounce of his energy is gathered and directed toward a good result. It is the moral steam controlled and made to hit a definite piston that sends this old world upward and onward.

Blind Fanaticism.

The blind fanaticism of one foolish honest man may cause more evil than the united efforts of twenty rogues.—Grimm.

Forgiveness or Sin.

Said General Oglethorpe to Wesley, "I never forgive." "Then I hope, sir," said Wesley, "you never sin."

Forgiveness.

Two persons cannot long be friends if they cannot forgive each other's little failings.—Bruyere.

Card of Thanks

We desire to thank our friends for the kindness and sympathy shown us during the sickness and death of our husband and father.

Mrs. Vincent Hamilton and family.

The Theme Will Be

"THE FAMILY ALTAR"

The General Assembly has requested its ministers to speak upon this subject, "Is the Family Altar a Scriptural Institution?" Have you any memories connected with the family altar? Are these memories sacredas seen in th years that are gone and with those whom you loved in life and honor in death? Have you a family altar? If not, why not? Would one be helpful or hurtful to you and those you love best?

Why do some seek one in cases of anxiety and distress?

7:30 P. M.

The Theme Is

"Church The Success' Friend"

Are you a success at the bar of your own conscience? Will you be one at God's judgment bar. Is He your friend? How do you treat your friends on earth?
